100 candles in school cake

GUARDIANFOTO—HI603/9

Harthill School children look on as 90-year-old Mrs. Hilda Jenkinson cuts the birthday cake assisted by four-year-olds Catherine Stones and John Shimwell.

THE oldest and the youngest got together to celebrate Harthill Primary School's 100th birthday.

For two of the School's youngest pupils — four-year-olds Catherine Stones and John Shimwell — huffed and puffed and blew out the School's birthday cake's 100 candles, and then the oldest old girl, Mrs. Hilda Jenkinson (90), of 37 Selby Lane, made the first cut.

The birthday cake was made by Mrs. Evelyn Hides, a teacher at the School and iced by another teacher Mrs. Barbara Adams.

Headmaster Mr. Stuart Moore read out a greetings telegram from Wales Comprehensive School.

Also at the birthday party were chairman of the governors Coun. Mrs. Alice Booth and another of the governors Coun. David Shepherd.
